Dear Citizens of Inman,

The recent weeks have brought the coronavirus (COVID-19) to the forefront of all our minds. Uncertainty can cause us all to be anxious, but now is the time we must all be calm and listen to the medical experts and government officials. I am standing by Governor McMaster and his policies. He is doing what he knows is best for the citizens of South Carolina.

The CDC has laid out ways that every American can help to slow the spread of COVID-19, and the City has shared them on our Facebook page. Please heed their suggestions for practicing social distancing, staying home and seeking medical attention if you are sick, and limiting exposure to larger groups of people.

While we urge you to stay home, know that there are ways to stay connected. Call or text your friends to check on their well-being. Continue to support our local businesses by using curbside pickup or delivery options. City Hall may be closed to the public, but it is at full staff and all functions will continue. Staff will make updates to the website and Facebook page when more information is received from the government.

We ask for your patience during the coming weeks and months. Stay home, care for yourselves and your families, and know we can get through these times. As always, please call City Hall if we can be of assistance. Our phone number is (864) 472-6200.

Take care,
